Toellner Systems, Inc. Names Bruce Curtis Marketing Director

Wisconsin Rapids, WI – June 19, 2007 – Toellner Systems, Inc., an innovative company that designs and tools some of the world's fastest servo driven automated parts loaders and catchers, is pleased to announce the appointment of Bruce Curtis as the company's marketing director.

Bruce Curtis comes to Toellner Systems with many years of experience in the marketing industry. Before joining Toellner Systems, Curtis worked for Communication Logistics, a full service direct marketing company, as their marketing manager. He began his career in the marketing research industry and has a bachelor's degree in communications from the University of Wisconsin, Stevens Point.

“The expansion of our sales and marketing department further strengthens our ability to meet the needs and requirements of our customers, whose total satisfaction is our number one focus,” noted Dennis Toellner, president of Toellner Systems. “Bruce will facilitate and oversee our entire marketing department and will be responsible for expanding our services both nationally and internationally.”
